HIV TESTING

YOU WILL BE GIVEN AN HIV TEST

Before being tested for HIV (Human Immunodeficiency Virus), you will need to know the following:

1. You will be tested for HIV as part of your blood tests unless you refuse.
2. An HIV test is done to determine if a person has been infected with the virus that causes AIDS.
3. There are four possible test results for a conventional test: negative, positive, indeterminate, or unsatisfactory.
 - A negative test result means that no evidence of HIV was found. However, if you have been infected with HIV during the past three months, it may be too soon to detect the infection and you should consider re-testing at a later date.
 - A positive test result means that you are infected with HIV and you can infect other people with HIV through exposure to your blood, sexual fluids, or breast milk. A positive test does not mean that you have AIDS or will ever develop AIDS.
 - An indeterminate test result means that your test is neither negative nor positive and you should be retested in 1 month.
 - An unsatisfactory test result means the laboratory could not test the specimen because there was a problem with the specimen. You should be re-tested.
4. Your HIV records are confidential.
5. Testing for HIV is voluntary and you may withdraw your consent to be tested at any time before the laboratory test(s) is completed.
6. Should your results be confirmed positive, the Department of Corrections will confidentially send your HIV Counseling and Testing Report with your name and test result to the Illinois Department of Public Health which monitors to ensure that you receive appropriate follow up testing and medical care services.
7. You have the right to obtain more information about the HIV or a referral for counseling.

Un resultado indeterminado significa que su prueba es positiva ni negativa y usted debe volver a analizar en 1 mes. Un medio de resultado de prueba satisfactoria del laboratorio no podría poner a prueba a la muestra porque hubo un problema con la muestra. Usted debe volver. Los registros de VIH son confidenciales. La prueba del VIH es voluntaria y usted puede retirar su consentimiento para ser probado en cualquier momento antes de que finalice las pruebas de laboratorio.
